Midtown Brews is a monthly public forum to build networks that accelerate business development in the Midtown and Downtown area. Forums are free and open to the public. The 2008 Midtown Brews programs focus on innovation opportunities in technology, the creative industries, and energy. Conversations are inspired by business leaders addressing new innovation opportunities to accelerate economic development. The Midtown Brews offers a neutral environment for conversations that are a combination of public participation and guided leadership direction. I-Open: <http://www.i-open.org>

EarthWatch Ohio is a 2008 Midtown Brews partner accelerating enterprise development in technology, energy, and the creative industries for regional prosperity. For more information visit <http://www.earthwatchohio.org>.
